

BARE JAMS BIOGRAPHIES

SHORT BIO

Bare Jams captures the sounds of that one summer you'll never forget. This six strong collective comes together to seamlessly mix flavours of reggae, dub, soul, pop and ska. This sound is then delivered with exuberance and relentless energy, creating a stage presence that radiates love and good times. This inescapable feeling has been present in their packed summer tour, headlining their own UK and Dutch club shows and when supporting the likes of The Wailers and La Pegatina, sharing a mainstage with The Specials, and playing at the likes of Glastonbury and Boomtown. 2020 will only spread the vibes further with the highly anticipated release of their debut studio album, This 'n' That.

LONG BIO

Bare Jams captures the sounds of that one summer you'll never forget. Starting out as the passion project of Ollie Coombes and Sam James, the band has grown and evolved from the modest duo busking in 2011, into the full fat festival force it is today. Now a six strong collective, the members come together to blend a tight fusion of genres, seamlessly mixing flavours of reggae, dub, soul, pop and ska into a unique, collaborative sound. This sound is delivered with exuberance and relentless energy, creating a stage presence radiating love and good times. Never losing this joie de vivre, their multifaceted lyrics offer insight into a journey of highs and lows, struggles and triumphs; their veiled metaphors provide listeners with the opportunity to find solace in their own interpretations of the words, coupled with a solid backbone of eternal optimism which is delivered via the music.

Bare Jams stormed on the scene with their debut EP 'Cold Treats', with the title track racking up over 800,000 streams on Spotify, helping them gain worldwide attention. The band then followed up with the 'Three Words EP' in 2017 featuring two very sonically varied singles 'Strange Mind' & 'Wind In The Willows'. 2019 has seen a continuation of their jubilant live performances in the UK and the rest of Europe. With 50 live shows played, stretching across 9 countries and gigs including Boomtown, Glastonbury and main stage support for The Specials, 2020 will bring the highly anticipated release of their debut studio album 'This 'n' That', of which singles 'Ebbs & Flows' and 'Fishbowl' having already served an enticing taste of what's to come.

Bare Jams are:
Ollie Coombes
Sam James
Dave Tyler
Seb Skelly
Oscar Ives-Owen
Josh Parmenter